Missionaries: Nick & Jocelyn F

In January 2021, I (Nick) initiated meetings with partners involved in the Cavango, Angola airstrip project. Though it took some time to get the bulldozer tracks rolling, we now have a fully functional airstrip adjacent to the Cavango Health Clinic, serviced by several missionary doctors and nurses. Moving forward, we have a MAF missionary family prepared to relocate to Cavango for the next phase of the project. This entails constructing a house and eventually a hanger so the family can live, fly and serve the region. With the aircraft based in Cavango, we anticipate more medical flights at reduced costs and quicker response times. The convenience of having an airplane and pilot readily available is monumental. Next month, dedicated volunteers from Canada will travel to Cavango to complete additional bulldozer work on the airstrip's turnaround areas and prepare the terrain for aircraft parking and a future hanger. Reflecting on Matthew 20:1-16, the parable of the workers in the vineyard, we are reminded that while we may join a project at different stages, we all contribute to the greater mission. Regardless of our role— whether full-time, part-time, or volunteer— we find fulfillment in serving alongside fellow laborers eagerly anticipating the harvest and eternal celebration with Jesus.

Persecuted Church: Nigeria

In areas throughout Nigeria, violence has continued relentlessly, disproportionately affecting the Christian population. Those responsible for the brutality are generally members of Islamic terrorist groups such as Boko Haram or the nomadic Fulani herders. While attacks perpetrated by the herders often stem from conflicts over their free-ranging cattle, the accompanying violence also commonly involves a religious element, as militant members of the predominantly Muslim group specifically target Christians and churches. Within the past month, multiple attacks have occurred in at least four different Nigerian states.
